Scholar Commons Announcement

A&SC is gearing up to formally launch a new Social Justice themed scholarship series in Scholar Commons, our platform for collecting, preserving and disseminating digital copies of the intellectual output of faculty, staff and students. Ray Scroggin, our Institutional Repository Coordinator, has laid the groundwork for this launch by working with existing faculty deposits to tag with bepress's recently approved Social Justice discipline. If you know you have Social Justice themed works contact Ray Scroggin (rscroggin@scu.edu) to find out more about how to tag your works for this new themed scholarship series, or keep an eye out for a call for submissions after the new year.
